About the Centre

The Centre for Higher Education Internationalisation (CHEI) is based at the Milan campus of Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore and offers a PhD programme in the Internationalisation of Higher Education in conjunction with the Doctoral Schools of Education and Languages. CHEI also conducts research and offers training in various aspects of the internationalisation of higher education through seminars and workshops for academics and professionals. Many of these initiatives are delivered through international partnerships, networks and projects.

PhD Programme

CHEI offers one of the few doctoral programmes in Europe with a focus on Higher Education Internationalisation, and attracts candidates from around the world. The programme has been conceived for professionals in the field of international higher education who continue their careers while undertaking their studies. It is offered in English with teaching and supervision provided both by the wide international network that the Centre has built up over the years and academic staff at Università Cattolica.

PhD Research Seminar

Held twice a year, this five-day seminar is aimed at a broad community of aspiring or current PhD students. It offers a programme of coaching sessions in research design, critical thinking and effective writing aimed at enabling each student to make progress on their specific research project. All students are given the opportunity to present and discuss their research with peers and experts in the field and to learn more about internationalisation of higher education.

Current Themes in Focus

- Global national and institutional trends in internationalisation: policies and strategies for internationalisation; shifting rationales for internationalisation; internationalisation of the curriculum at home; the international student experience; mobility; employability, sustainability, inclusivity, access and internationalisation; virtualisation of internationalisation; international networks and alliances; emerging models of internationalisation; international education and institutional development.
- Internationalisation of Italian universities in the European and global context; the international student experience in Milanese universities; the international classroom and the use of English as a medium of teaching and learning.

Cooperations

INTERNATIONAL ACTIVITY

The international cooperation affairs of Università Cattolica are organised and coordinated by the International Cooperation Unit. It provides support for faculty members in their selection of adequate calls for applications that are launched mainly by the European Union, the Ministry of International Affairs and by other entities, such as various foundations. The unit also assists in defining the project features and provides administrative support in managing the project cycle for the selected and funded project proposals.

Università Cattolica actively cooperates with projects within the EU framework that focus on social and educational issues, such as:

- Inclusion strategies in education
- Social responsibility in business
- The food supply chain (Faculty of Agriculture, food and environmental sciences) and others.
- Intercultural and sports mediation in international Diplomacy
- Internationalisation at home of the higher education
- Soft skills and new technologies in adult education
- Practical training exchanges for the students in Medicine and surgery

In the future, Cattolica intends to expand its participation in cooperation projects promoting themes of inclusiveness, civic and community engagement, and entrepreneurial education, especially through the ERASMUS+ Strategic Partnerships programmes, Capacity Building actions and the financial support of the Italian Ministry of International Affairs.

Currently, Cattolica takes part in about 30 projects, contributing to its reputation and expertise in research and development projects all around the world. For the proposal calls of 2024, Cattolica put forward many more proposals than it was engaged in, thus showing its strong commitment to finding new opportunities for innovations and complementarities for an ever active and creative external engagement.

Cattolica also participates in ongoing projects like the International Credit Mobility (ICM), thus facilitating connections with neighbouring countries. Currently, the University is working with American universities by exchanging students and staff, and with the aim of implementing a conducive platform for the reinforcement of research collaborations.

Moreover, Cattolica promotes European higher education and the issuance of Joint/Double Degrees through Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree projects, such as the Agricultural, Food and Environmental Policy Analysis (AFEPA) Network.

Cattolica is also leading a project in a joint venture with the e4IMPACT foundation and AICS (Ministry of Foreign Affairs), aiming at developing and sustaining impact entrepreneurship in Kenya, as well as strengthening the business ties between Kenya and Italy.
