LAW COURSES TAUGHT IN ENGLISH

Are you a law student considering a study abroad or exchange period at Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore, in Milan?

Here are the courses and other activities that are taught in English. Some courses are offered either in the Fall or in the Spring semester, while others are one-year courses, meaning that they begin in the Fall semester and last until the end of the Spring semester (but don't worry: if you stay with us only for one semester, and want to attend part of a one-year course, you may discuss the matter with the professor and sit a partial exam, thereby earning fewer ECTS).

[1]   This course appears in the official timetable under the following denomination: Esperienza di pratica legale in diritto internazionale.

[2]   This is the English-taught second module of the full-year course Diritto del Lavoro (Corso progredito), whose first module is taught in Italian.

*   The figure refers to the ECTS that students earn by sitting a full exam, i.e., an exam covering the syllabus of the whole one-year course. Upon agreement with the professor concerned, Incoming students may choose to attend only half of the chosen one-year course(s) and sit a partial exam, thereby earning fewer ECTS than those indicated in the table.

2. INTERNATIONAL CURRICULUM

Erasmus+ students are allowed to take only one course from the International Curriculum. Also, registration in selected course is required prior to arrival. Interested students are invited to follow instructions that will be send via email once the course registration process is open.
